Short bio

After a BA in Chinese and Japanese in 1990, I spent most of my research in Japan. I first came in Taiwan in 1990 and I had regular contacts with Taiwan environmentalists and public health scholars since 1998 by the time I started my fieldwork in Minamata for my PhD dissertation. Since September 2007, I have the opportunity to pursue an extensive fieldwork in Taiwan at the French Centre for Research on Contemporary China (CEFC), Taipei office (located at Academia Sinica), as a visiting scholar until September 2009, and as a director of the office since then.
