

- China, Hong Kong or Taiwan PhD Scholarships 2024 -

In 2024, the French Center for Research on Contemporary China (CEFC) will award scholarships for doctoral students, for field research or thesis writing in China, Hong Kong or Taiwan.

The CEFC will be able to finance up to 12 months' grant, to be divided between the various projects selected. The grant amounts is €1,200 per month, plus a return plane ticket (up to a maximum of €1,000).

The assignment may begin on or after 1 May 2024. At the end of their assignment, during which they will be associated with the CEFC, the winners will be required to present their activities to the laboratory's board.

Eligibility

- Doctoral students who are nationals of a member state of the European Union (EU) or doctoral students from outside the EU enrolled in doctoral training at a French university in a field of social sciences and humanities.
- Obligation to reside in China, Hong Kong or Taiwan for the duration of their attachment to the CEFC.
- Submit a research project that fits into the CEFC's scientific mission, which consists of studying the political, economic, social and cultural changes in the People's Republic of China, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Macau.

In return for this funding, the beneficiaries of this aid undertake:

- To submit a written report on their work to the CEFC, intended in particular for the Centre's annual activity report.
- To present their research activities to the laboratory's board at the end of the field mission.

Application Requirement

The application should include:

- A research project (5 pages maximum, bibliography not included, Times New Roman font 12, line spacing 1.5)
- A detailed CV
- A cover letter
- A budget (including any co-financing, if any)

The selection will be based on the following criteria, which must appear clearly in the research project:

- Research objectives
- Methodology/Sources/Fieldwork
- Provisional timetable
- Writing skills in French or English

Applicants shall obtain their visa on their own, the CEFC and the Taipei office cannot be responsible for applicants' visa. The impossibility of going to the fieldwork will result in the cancellation of the scholarship.

Applicants must send the requested items in a single PDF file by email to Benjamin Taunay (b.taunay@cefc.com.hk) and Henry Wu (hwu@cefc.com.hk). The subject of the email should be "PHD SCHOLARSHIP 2024".

Deadline for applications: 21 April 2024.
